LEO DUROCHER — MANAGER

In his 6th season as manager of the Chicago Cubs, Leo Durocher is hoping that the logical pattern follows. After finishing last in his first year at the helm of the Cubs, 1966, Leo has brought the team steadily upward, with third place finishes in 1967 and 1968, and second place finishes in 1969 and 1970. If the logical pattern follows, 1971 should be "the" year for the Cubs.

Unlike the 1969 season, the Cubs were in the 1970 Eastern Division race right down to the closing days of the season. Sept. 4 they were in a first place tie for the Eastern Division leadership—and as late as Sept. 19 they were only 1½ games out of first place. The Northsiders were not finally eliminated until Sept. 27, with only 4 games left in the season.

Team Stronger Than A Year Ago

Despite the fact that the Cubs fell short of the mark for the second year in a row, Leo feels the club is much stronger than it was just a year ago. The Cub pitching staff in '71 will have 4 reliable starting pitchers (for the first time in recent memory) from the start of the season.

Offensively, the Cubs remain one of the strongest teams in the league. They were the only team with 3 players who hit more than 25 home runs and drove in 100 or more RBI apiece. They hit 179 homers in '70, second in the league in that department as well as in RBI (761) and runs scored (806).

The basic problem which faced the Cubs before the start of the 1971 season was the bullpen. Leo said that after the failure of veterans to solve the problem in 1970, that he would turn his search to youth in '71.

The Durocher Method Brings Results

Leo's background leads to only one conclusion: he knows how to win. He has led 3 National League teams to pennants (the Dodgers in 1941, the Giants in 1951 and '54) and in 1954 led the New York Giants to a spectacular World Series triumph over the Cleveland Indians in 4 straight games.

Leo moved into the managerial ranks in 1939, when he was named player-manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers. He became manager of the Giants in mid-season of 1948, and remained in that capacity through 1955. Leo coached for the Los Angeles Dodgers 4 seasons (1961-64).

Leo developed his fierce competitive spirit as one of the outstanding shortstops during his major league career. He broke into baseball with the Yankees (1925-29), went to Cincinnati for 3 seasons (1930-33), but gained his real fame after being traded to St. Louis early in the 1933 season.

Leo was shortstop on the Cardinals' famous "Gashouse Gang" that won the National League pennant in 1934 and beat the Detroit Tigers in the World Series.

THE COACHES

VERLON (RUBE) WALKER 4

Rube was promoted to pitching coach prior to the start of the 1971 season, succeeding Joe Becker, who had been pitching coach for 4 years. . . . Rube, who owns the longest tenure of any coach on the staff, is in his 11th season of coaching on the major league level. . . . Has spent his entire career in the Cubs organization, signing his first pro contract as a catcher in 1948. . . . Caught for 7 different teams in the system, and was a manager in the Cub organization for 4 seasons, gaining a reputation for his ability to work with youngsters.

JOHN (JOE) AMALFITANO 5

Joe is in his 5th year as a member of the Cubs' coaching staff, and at 37 is the youngest member of the staff. . . . Usually seen during games patroling the first base coach's box, he is experienced at all 4 infield positions. . . . Joe joined the Cubs in 1964, first as an active player (1964-66) and since as a coach. . . . He began his pro career in 1954 when the New York Giants outbid several other clubs for his services after starring at St. Anthony High (Long Beach, Calif.) . . . Went to Houston in the 1962 expansion draft, then returned to the Giants in 1963.

HARRY (PEANUTS) LOWREY 7

Peanuts is in his second year as a member of the Cubs' coaching staff. . . . Lowrey broke in as a coach in 1960 with the Phillies, coached for the Giants in 1967-68 and for the Expos in 1969. . . . He spent most of his playing career as a Cub, signing his first pro contract with them in 1937. . . . He broke into the majors with the Cubs in 1942, beginning a major league playing career that spanned 13 seasons. . . . Highlight of his career came in the 1945 World Series when he hit .310 for the National League champion Cubs.

ALBERT (AL) SPANGLER 3

Al, a veteran of 11 seasons as a major league outfielder, is in his rookie season as a major league coach. . . . He began the 1970 season as a player-coach with Tacoma then returned to Chicago as a player and was named to the coaching staff Aug. 20. . . . He joined the Cub organization in the spring of 1967 as a free agent. . . . A graduate of Duke University, he broke into the major leagues with the Braves in 1959. . . . Acquired by Houston in the expansion draft of '61, he spent 4 years there, then was with the Angels for 2 seasons.

THE 1971 CUBS TEAM

ERNEST (ERNIE) BANKS 14

INFIELDER-COACH. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Jan. 31, 1931. Height 6:01. Weight 185. Married, 3 children. Home: Chicago, Ill.

Two significant events marked the 1970 season for Ernie Banks: he clouted the 500th home run of his major league career and he spent a period on the disabled list for the first time ever. . . . The day Ernie will never forget is May 12, 1970 —in the second inning of a game against Atlanta at Wrigley Field, he stroked a 1-1 pitch from Pat Jarvis into the left field bleachers to join only 8 other major league players in the history of the game to hit 500 career homers (in addition to Ernie, only two others are still active: Willie Mays and Hank Aaron). . . . That homer had added significance: it was also the 1,600th run-batted-in of his career.

The other event to mark Ernie's 1970 season was not quite so pleasant. . . . July 26, he was placed on the disabled list for the first time in his career because of an arthritic condition in his left knee. . . . He came off the list August 21, and in 18 games from that date to the end of the season he hit .326 (15-for-46) to demonstrate that the injury had not slowed him down one bit.

Greatest Cub Ever

Voted the "Greatest Cub Ever" by Cub fans in 1969, Ernie adds more credence to that title almost every time he steps to the plate. . . . He leads 9 of 11 Cubs modern all-time offensive departments: games (2,489), at-bats (9,338), runs (1,301), hits (2,567), doubles (405), home runs (509), total bases (4,679), RBI (1,630), and extra base hits (1,004).

He also leads the Cubs with 12 career grand slam home runs, second in the league behind Hank Aaron (13) among active players. . . . Ernie also holds the League record for most grand slams in a season; he hit 5 in 1955.

Great Defensive Ability

Although his ability with the bat is unquestioned, Ernie's defensive talent is often overlooked. . . . In 1969 he led the National League's first basemen with a .997 mark. . . . And 10 years earlier, in 1959, he set the all-time major league record for fielding percentage as a shortstop (.985).

Ernie's list of honors is long and varied: he was voted "Chicagoan of the Year" by the Chicago Press Club in 1969, he has appeared in 13 All-Star games, he was Most Valuable Player in the National League 2 straight seasons (1958-59). . . . Named a player-coach Feb. 28, 1967. . . . He joined the Cubs Sept. 14, 1953, after purchase of his contract from the Kansas City Monarchs.

GLENN BECKERT 18

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Oct. 12, 1940. Height 6:01. Weight 190. Married, one daughter. Home: Park Ridge, Ill.

Coming off a season plagued with injuries, Glenn Beckert missed only 19 games in 1970 and was named to not one but 3 all-star teams. . . . In mid-season, he was elected by fan vote to the National League All-Star team, his second appearance on that squad. . . . And then at the end of the season he was named to "The Sporting News" National League All-Star team and the Associated Press Major League All-Star team. . . . Glenn hit .288 last year, third on the Cubs behind only Billy Williams and Jim Hickman, and for the second year in a row was the only Cub to pound out 5 hits in one game. . . . Highlight of the year came for him September 7 in his home town of Pittsburgh when he collected his 1,000th major league hit. . . . 1969 was a season Glenn would just as soon forget; he missed a career high of 31 games, mostly due to a series of injuries. . . . However, he was the "Toughest to Strike Out" in the National League for the fourth straight year (22 whiffs in 543 at-bats), and hit .291, second on the team. . . . Glenn enjoyed one of his best seasons in the majors in 1968 when he was named "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers, won the "Gold Glove" award for the best fielding performance in the League at his position, appearing in more games than any other second baseman in the league, and he was named to both press service all-star teams. . . . He was obtained by the Cubs from the Boston Red Sox organization via the first year draft in 1962. . . . Glenn is a graduate of Allegheny College with a major in political science.

DANNY BREEDEN 19

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 27, 1942. Height 6:00. Weight 180. Married, 2 children. Home: Robertsdale, Alabama.

Danny Breeden was obtained by the Cubs from the Cincinnati organization Nov. 30, 1970, in exchange for Willie Smith, to add depth to the catching corps. . . . By coincidence, the Cubs acquired the services of his younger brother, Hal, from the Atlanta organization the very same day. . . . Danny spent all of last year at Indianapolis, hitting .252 in 60 games. . . . An 8-year veteran in pro ball, Breeden made his major league debut in 1969 when an emergency on the Cincinnati Reds' catching staff gave him the opportunity. . . . In his first major league at-bat, Danny lined a pitch from Gary Gentry of the Mets into center field for the biggest thrill of his career thus far. . . . Led the Pacific Coast League in games, put-outs, and fewest errors, and was elected to the P.C.L. All-Star Team in 1968. . . . Attended Troy (Ala.) State College following graduation from Albany (Ga.) High and is just one semester short of a degree in accounting.

Hal Breeden was obtained from the Atlanta organization Nov. 30, 1970, in exchange for pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm and cash—the same day the Cubs acquired his older brother, Danny, from the Cincinnati organization. . . . Hal, who has yet to appear in his first major league game, enjoyed the best season of his career in 1970. . . . He led the International League with 37 home runs and led Richmond with 116 runs-batted-in. . . . Elected to the International League All-Star Team, he registered the winning hit as the All-Stars defeated the Baltimore Orioles. . . . He was also Player-of-the-Month for July in the International League in '70. . . . A power hitter who also hits for average, he has batted over .300 5 times in 8 minor league seasons, his best effort a .406 average in 75 games at Yakima, Northwest League, in 1964. . . . A 1962 graduate of Albany (Ga.) High, he played with Ciudad Obregon in the Mexican League this past winter.

DEAN BURK 47

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Oct. 24, 1947. Height 6:06. Weight 216. Married, one son. Home: Highland, Illinois.

Dean Burk, competing for the first time in his career at the "AAA" level, suffered an off year at Tacoma in 1970. . . . This followed a season when he was the top pitcher at San Antonio, the Cubs' representative in the Texas League. . . . In 1969, he led the Missions in almost every pitching statistic. . . . He compiled a 12-11 won-loss record, with a 3.42 ERA. . . . A member of the Texas League All-Star Team in '69, he led the league in innings pitched (200), games started (30), and was second in complete games (12). . . . Also pitched two innings of hitless ball in the All-Star game. . . . Dean was the top pitcher in the Arizona Instructional League the winter of 1969, leading the league in won-loss percentage with a 7-1 record, and in wins. . . . A large young man who looks more like he belongs on a football field than a baseball diamond, Burk pitched a no-hitter for San Antonio in 1968. . . . No hitters are nothing new for him—he pitched 3 his senior year in high school. . . . Burk was the Cubs' number one draft choice in 1966.

JOHN (JOHNNY) CALLISON 6

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born March 12, 1939. Height 5:10. Weight 178. Married, 3 children. Home: Glenside, Pennsylvania.

Johnny Callison, playing his first season for the Chicago Cubs, enjoyed his best year since 1965, hitting 19 home runs and driving in 68 runs. . . . The former Philadelphia Phillies star also reached a milestone in 1970: he joined the exclusive 200 home runs club Aug. 3 when he belted a homer off Jerry Koosman of the Mets. . . . He became the fourth member of the current Cubs team who belongs to that club (Others: Ernie Banks, Billy Williams, and Ron Santo). . . . The two-time All-Star outfielder was acquired by the Cubs Nov. 18, 1969, from the Phils in exchange for Dick Selma and Oscar Gamble. . . . Callison, who has averaged a little more than 18 home runs a season in his major league career, is also an outstanding defensive outfielder; he was third in the league with only 3 errors in 134 games in 1969, and in '68 he didn't commit a single error in 121 games to lead the League in defense. . . . The owner of an outstanding throwing arm, Johnny holds the major league record for most seasons leading the league in assists as an outfielder (1962-65). . . . Owns 3 career grand slam home runs. . . . Johnny was signed to his first pro contract in 1957 by the Chicago White Sox, and was traded to Philadelphia Dec. 8, 1959, for Gene Freese.

JAMES (JIM) COLBORN 48

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born May 22, 1946. Height 6:00. Weight 185. Married. Home: Santa Paula, California.

Jim Colborn became a full-fledged member of the Cubs' pitching staff in 1970, only his fourth season in professional ball. . . . Jim registered four "saves," second only to Phil Regan on the Cubs' mound staff. . . . He appears cut out for a relief career, evidenced by the fact that although his overall ERA for the season was 3.58, his ERA in 29 relief appearances (53 innings) was only 2.89. . . . Jim had another distinction in 1970—he became the Cubs' player-representative as a rookie, probably one of the youngest major leaguers to hold such a position. . . . In 1969, Jim was the top pitcher in the Pacific Coast League with a 2.28 ERA and led the Tacoma Cubs to the P.C.L. championship by winning the deciding game in the league play-offs. . . . Colborn spent a month with the big club in 1969, and won his first major league start (July 13 vs. Philadelphia). . . . Signed in 1967 following graduation from Whittier (Calif.) College. . . . He works on his Master's Degree in sociology at the University of Washington in his spare time. . . . Jim played for San Juan in the Puerto Rican League this past winter where he was among the league leaders in ERA.

BRYSHEAR (BROCK) DAVIS 29

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Left. Born Oct. 19, 1943. Height 5:10. Weight 168. Married, 2 sons. Home: Los Angeles, California.

Brock Davis, whose .332 batting average led the Tacoma Cubs in 1970, was purchased by the Chicago Cubs Sept. 3, of last year, one day after the Pacific Coast League season ended to add depth and speed to the Cubs' bench. . . . In addition to leading the T-Cubs, he finished fourth in the P.C.L. batting race, and it marked the second straight year he hit over .300 (he hit .309 with San Antonio in 1969). . . . Brock signed his first pro contract in 1963 with Houston and was immediately sent to the major league club where he stayed for 34 games. . . . Now in his 9th season of professional ball, he has seen major league action parts of 4 seasons, appearing in 45 major league games with Houston and 6 with the Cubs. . . . He led Texas League outfielders in 3 defensive categories in 1967; in 1964 he was the top defensive outfielder in the league. . . . Attended Los Angeles State College.

GEORGE (JOE) DECKER 36

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born June 16, 1947. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Married, one son. Home: San Rafael, California.

Joe Decker was primarily a spot starter and long relief pitcher in his first full season with the major league club. . . . Tho he struggled at times, Joe still demonstrated plenty of potential. . . . Highlight of the year for him was April 27 at Pittsburgh when he shut out the Pirates for 8.1 innings on 6 scattered hits to earn a 1-0 win. . . . In 1969, he played a key role in the Tacoma Cubs' Pacific Coast League championship: led the club with 23 starts, tied for most wins with 10, and finished 10th in the League with a 3.30 ERA. . . . In addition, he won one of the T-Cubs' 3 victories in the play-offs. . . . Called to Chicago after the play-offs, Joe appeared in 4 games, registering his first major league win the final day of the 1969 season by pitching 4 shut-out innings against the Mets. . . . In 1968, Decker started the season at Lodi and after compiling 75 strike-outs in 72 innings, he jumped from "A" to "AAA" ball and finished the year at Tacoma where he registered 5 complete games in 9 starts and a 1.80 ERA. . . . Prior to signing his first pro contract in 1965, he pitched his hometown American Legion baseball team to second place in the California state tournament. . . . Pitched in the Puerto Rican League this past winter.

JAMES (JIM) DUNEGAN 34

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Aug. 6, 1947. Height 6:01. Weight 205. Married, one daughter. Home: Burlington, Iowa.

For the first time in his pro career, Jim Dunegan concentrated all his efforts on pitching in 1970. . . . Signed by the Cubs in 1967 as an outfielder-pitcher, he pitched in only 14 pro games, all at the "A" level, prior to 1970, and did not pitch at all during the '69 season. . . . A muscular, hard-working young man, his progress in 1970 while working with 3 different clubs, including 7 appearances with the big club, was promising. . . . This past winter he worked on developing a knuckle ball pitch during the Arizona Instructional League. . . . In 8 games there, he compiled a 4-2 won-loss record with 38 strike-outs against only 18 walks in 49 innings and had a 3.49 ERA. . . . In 1969, before converting to a pitcher, Jim was one of Tacoma's big hitters in its drive for the Pacific Coast League championship; he led the club with 9 triples and was second with 26 doubles, and set an all-time P.C.L. record with 10 double plays as an outfielder. . . . However, he also set a league record by striking out 122 times. . . . At Quincy in 1968, Jim led the Midwest League with 25 doubles. . . . Attended Iowa State and Bacone Jr. College (Muskogee, Okla.) and helped lead Bacone to the National Junior College Baseball Tournament championship in 1967.

HENRY (ADRIAN) GARRETT 23

Adrian Garrett's contract was purchased by the Cubs Sept. 9, 1970, from the San Antonio Missions after he led the Texas League with 29 home runs. . . . It was his second trip to the major leagues—in 1966 he was called up late in the season by the Atlanta Braves and appeared in 4 games. . . . His 29 homers last season, along with 124 hits and 82 runs scored, were all top season marks of his career. . . . He also slugged 21 doubles and hit .277 for one of his best all-around pro seasons. . . . Named to the Texas League All-Star team in 1967, his best season average came in 1963 when he hit .317 for Boise. . . . In 1962, he led Midwest League outfielders with 18 assists. . . . A shortstop and outfielder as well as halfback at Sarasota High School before graduation in 1961, Garrett came up through Little League, Pony League and American Legion ball in his home town. . . . Adrian's younger brother, Wayne, is an infielder with the New York Mets.

LAWRENCE (LARRY) GURA 40

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born Nov. 26, 1947. Height 6:00. Weight 170. Married. Home: Joliet, Illinois.

Larry Gura, with only 2 seasons as a pro under his belt, appears on the way to becoming a full-fledged major leaguer. . . . He began the 1970 season with the Chicago Cubs and with the exception of a month and a half (May 14-June 24) when he was optioned to Tacoma, Larry spent the rest of the season with Chicago. . . . Highlight of the season for him occurred August 5, when he started at Montreal and went the distance allowing 7 scattered hits to beat the Expos 11-3 for his first major league complete game. . . . The Cubs' second pick in the June 1969 free agent draft, Gura was immediately assigned to the "AAA" club (Tacoma) an unusual vote of confidence for a young pitcher. . . . He enjoyed an outstanding collegiate career at Arizona State University, setting an N.C.A.A. record his senior year with a 19-1 record. . . . Gura was named All-Conference and All-American as well as being elected to the all-tourney team after the N.C.A.A. World Series Tournament in 1969. . . . He is a 1965 graduate of Joliet East High, where he participated in baseball, track, cross-country and swimming.

WILLIAM (BILL) HANDS 49

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born May 6, 1940. Height 6:02. Weight 185. Married, 3 children. Home: Parsippany, New Jersey.

Bill Hands, a charter member of the Cubs' "Big Four" starting rotation, suffered a bit of an off year in 1970 following a sensational 1969 season, but still managed to post 18 wins, second only to Fergie Jenkins on the Cub staff, and second best win total of his career. . . . He was most successful in '70 against the hard-hitting Cincinnati Reds, posting a 4-0 record with a 2.45 ERA in 33 innings. . . . In 1969, he was named "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers after leading the club with a 2.49 ERA, turning in his first 20-game winning season, and pitching a career high of 300 innings. . . . He broke 3 Cub losing streaks during the '69 season, and when he won his 20th of the year by beating Pittsburgh 3-1, he broke an 11-game Cub losing streak at Forbes Field that had dated back to July 15, 1968. . . . Bill established himself as a starting pitcher in '68, winning 16 games, second only to Jenkins, and leading the staff with 4 shutouts and allowing only 1.39 walks per 9 innings to be the club's top control artist. . . . In 1967, he was the Cubs' best relief pitcher with a 2.46 ERA. . . . He was acquired from the San Francisco Giants, along with Randy Hundley, Dec. 2, 1965, in exchange for Lindy McDaniel and Don Landrum. . . . Signed with the Giants in 1958 after starring in baseball, football, and basketball at Rutherford (N.J.) High School. . . . Attended Ohio Wesleyan and Fairleigh-Dickinson Universities.

JAMES (JIM) HICKMAN 28

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born May 10, 1937. Height 6:04. Weight 205. Married, 4 sons. Home: Henning, Tennessee.

Soft-spoken Jim Hickman, without question, enjoyed the best season of his career in 1970. . . . Playing in more games than he ever had in one year (149), Jim batted .315 for the season, second only to Billy Williams on the Cub team, and 10th in the National League batting race. . . . Every one of his 1970 statistics represented career highs for "Gentleman Jim": at-bats (514), runs (102), hits (162), doubles (33), triples (4), home runs (32), and RBI (115). . . . He led the club with a .419 base-reaching average; he owned the longest hitting streak of the season on the club (17 games); and was second on the club with 13 game-winning RBI. . . . Jim was named to the National League All-Star team for the first time in his career in 1970 and responded by driving in the game winning hit to give the National League a 5-4 win in 12 innings. . . . This past winter, he was given the "Chicago Headline of the Year" award by the Chicago Baseball Writers; was named "Tennessee Pro Athlete of the Year" by his home state; and was elected "The Sporting News Comeback Player of the Year". . . . Hickman did not become a regular in the Cub line-up until Aug. 3, 1969, but from that date on he was one of the Cubs' most reliable stick men—in the final 2 months of the '69 season he hit 14 of his 21 season homers. . . . Acquired by the Cubs April 23, 1968, in the same deal that brought Phil Regan to Chicago from Los Angeles (in exchange for Ted Savage and Jim Ellis), Jim was immediately assigned to Tacoma, and almost quit pro baseball by his own admission. . . . However, in the ensuing month at Tacoma he hit .351 and was called to Chicago. . . . Signed originally by the St. Louis Cardinals in 1956, he became a charter member of the New York Mets when selected in the expansion draft Oct. 10, 1961. . . . He attended Memphis State and the University of Mississippi.

KENNETH (KEN) HOLTZMAN 30

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Right. Born Nov. 3, 1945. Height 6:02. Weight 175. Married. Home: Creve Coeur, Missouri.

Ken Holtzman, youngest member of the Cubs' "Big Four" starting rotation, continued his steady improvement in 1970. . . . His 17 victories matched his 1969 career high, but he recorded 2 fewer losses, and pushed his strike-out total over the 200 mark (202) for the first time in his career. . . . He also pitched a career high of 288 innings. . . . Ken tied a National League record Sept. 5 when he struck out the first five New York Mets he faced. . . . In addition, he turned in the best single performance by a Cub pitcher for the season when he hurled a one-hitter against San Francisco Aug. 22 to beat the Giants 15-0. . . . He also pitched a 2-hitter, a three hitter, and a 4-hitter. . . . Holtzman's best performance against one club in '70 was a 3-1 mark against Montreal, with a 1.98 ERA in 41 innings. . . . 1969 was also a big year for him; he pitched a no-hit game, blanking Atlanta 3-0 Aug. 19 at Wrigley Field. . . . He strung together 33 consecutive shut-out innings, only 6 short of the club record set by Bill Lee in 1938, and he matched a personal string of 3 shut-out games in a row. . . . In 1968, Ken was called away from the club 10 different times for military duty, and in 1967 he was with the club only 6 weeks because of military obligations; however that year, he put together an amazing perfect record of 9-0 with a 2.52 ERA. . . . In 1966, his rookie year, Ken led the club in wins and strike-outs. . . . A graduate of the University of Illinois, Ken attended University City (Mo.) High School where he was named Most Valuable Player of his state championship team his senior year.

TUESDAYS ARE SENIOR CITIZENS DAYS

As in past years, every Tuesday the Cubs play at home is Senior Citizens' Day. Anyone 65 or older is admitted to the Wrigley Field grandstand for only $1.00.

TERRY HUGHES 17

INFIELDER-OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born May 13, 1949. Height 6:01. Weight 185. Single. Home: Spartanburg, S. C.

Terry Hughes may be ready for the big step to the major leagues in 1971. . . . He spent almost the entire season at Tacoma last year, hitting .286 in 104 games, third on the team, and leading the T-Cubs with 25 doubles. . . . Called up to Chicago after the end of the Pacific Coast League season, he hit .333 for the Cubs in 2 games before suffering a hand injury. . . . He recovered in time to hit .300 in 13 games in the Arizona Instructional League. . . . 1969 was only half a season for Hughes; between military obligations and a broken jaw suffered in a base path collision during a ball game he saw action in only 83 games. . . . He hit .328 at San Antonio the closing weeks of the 1968 season after winning promotion there from Quincy. . . . He played part of the '68 season at Greenville of the Western Carolinas League so he might complete his college semester. . . . The Cubs No. 1 selection in the June, 1967 free agent draft, he graduated from Dorman High School (Spartanburg) the same year he was named Most Valuable Player and captained his baseball team.

C. RANDOLPH (RANDY) HUNDLEY 9

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 1, 1942. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Married, 3 children. Home: Palatine, Illinois.

For Randy Hundley, 1970 was a frustrating year: he appeared in only 73 games all season because of a pair of injuries. . . . On March 26 he suffered a bone chip in his left hand during a spring training game and did not appear in the line-up until April 14, a week into the season. . . . He played exactly 7 games, suffering damaged cartilage in his left knee in a collision at the plate April 21, and did not return to the active list until July 10. . . . A tribute to Randy's value to the team: in 73 games he played in, the Cubs had a .612 winning percentage. . . . In 1969, Randy made his first appearance on the National League All-Star team, and continued to be among the league leaders in defense; he led the League in fewest errors by a catcher (9), and most double plays (17), and tied for the lead in appearances (151) and assists (79). . . . In 1968, Randy finished second in defense by one percentage point, while setting a major league record for most appearances by a catcher (160 of 163 games). . . . In 1967, Randy won the "Gold Glove" award as the top defensive catcher in the league, committing only 4 errors to set an all-time major league record. . . . He tied another major league record, setting a new National League record at the same time, with only 4 passed balls for the season. . . . In 1966, he set a National League record for most games caught by a rookie (149), slammed 19 homers (the most by a Cub catcher since Gabby Hartnett hit 22 in 1934), and was elected to the Rookie All-Star Team. . . . He was obtained from San Francisco Dec. 2, 1965, along with Bill Hands, for Lindy McDaniel and Don Landrum.

FERGUSON (FERGIE) JENKINS 31

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Dec. 13, 1943. Height 6:05. Weight 205. Married, 1 daughter. Home: South Chatham, Ontario.

Fergie Jenkins, who won a career high of 22 games for his fourth straight season of 20 or more wins, is well on the road to becoming the greatest pitcher in Cub history. . . . He is the first Cub pitcher to accomplish such a feat since Mordecai "Three-Finger" Brown won 20 or more games 6 years in a row (1906-1911). . . . He was third in the league in wins, right behind Bob Gibson and Gaylord Perry who tied for first with 23 wins apiece. . . . He led the league with 24 complete games and was second with 313 innings pitched. . . . Fergie struck out 8 New York Mets the final day of the 1970 season to extend his own club record to 274 strike-outs in one season. . . . In addition to leading the Cub staff in 7 of 11 pitching departments, he led the Cub pitchers with 3 home runs and 11 RBI. . . . In 1969, Fergie set a club record with 42 starts, breaking the old club record of 40 set by Grover Cleveland Alexander in 1920 and equaled by Fergie in 1968. . . . Tho he won 20 games in 1968, Jenkins was beset by problems: he tied a major league record for being the starting pitcher in 1-0 losses 5 times, and he set a club record for being the starting pitcher in 9 games in which the Cubs were shut out. . . . In 1967, Fergie became a full-fledged starter for the first time, and led the league with 20 complete games, was second in strike-outs and second in victories. . . . Fergie was a relief pitcher when obtained by the Cubs, along with Adolfo Phillips, in April of 1966(in exchange for Larry Jackson and Bob Buhl) from Philadelphia. . . . His debut with the Cubs was a memorable one: he beat the Dodgers in relief, belting a home run to win the game himself. . . . One of a very few Canadian-born major leaguers he was signed by the Philadelphia organization after graduation from Chatham Vocational High School. . . . An outstanding basketball and hockey player in high school as well as baseball star, he turned down offers from several pro hockey teams.

GARRY JESTADT 16

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born March 19, 1947. Height 6:02. Weight 190. Married. Home: Tempe, Arizona.

Garry Jestadt returned to the Cub organization in 1970 after a one-season absence. . . . Signed originally by the Cubs in 1965, he was selected by the Montreal Expos in the expansion draft of Oct. 10, 1968. . . . However, April 22, 1970, he was re-acquired in exchange for Jim Qualls, and immediately assigned to San Antonio. . . . After only 19 games there, he was promoted to Tacoma where he hit .287 in 92 games. . . . Jestadt made his major league debut in 1969 with the Expos, after hitting .327 at Vancouver. . . . A shortstop since starting at that position at Fremont High School (Sunnyvale), he has played more at second base and third base in the pro ranks. . . . He broke into the pros at Caldwell in '65, and after only 4 games there, he was promoted to Quincy. . . . After hitting .291 at Quincy in '69, he won promotion to the Cubs' Texas League club. . . . Attends Arizona State University in the off-season.

RONALD (RON) JONES 42

PITCHER. Throws Left. Bats Left. Born Dec. 24, 1949. Height 6:04. Weight 175. Single. Home: West Covina, California.

Ron Jones put together a 9-3 record and an impressive 2.50 ERA in 126 innings to help Quincy toward the Midwest League championship in 1970. . . . His performance for the Q-Cubs won him promotion to San Antonio of the Texas League where he found the going much rougher. . . . Assigned to the Arizona Instructional League this past winter, he compiled a 2.75 ERA in 33 innings, which would have ranked him 4th in the league had he pitched enough innings to qualify. . . . Ron pitched in only 10 games in 1969 before entering the military for 6 months active duty. . . . Selected by the Cubs in 1968 after graduation from West Covina High, he got his pro career off to a fast start with a 3-1 record in 9 games at Treasure Valley, the Cubs' "rookie" classification team in the Pioneer League. . . . Captained his high school baseball team and was twice named all-conference.

DONALD (DON) KESSINGER 11

INFIELDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born July 17, 1942. Height 6:01. Weight 175. Married, 2 sons. Home: Northbrook, Illinois.

Whether in the field or at bat, Don Kessinger rates as the top shortstop in the National League. . . . In 1970, he was the National League's All-Star shortstop for the third straight year. . . . At season end, he was named to "The Sporting News" all-star team, and he won the "Gold Glove" award as best defensive player in the league at his position for the second straight year. . . . Last season, Don led the league in assists (501), and was second in total chances (780) and double-plays (86). . . . On offense, he led the club and finished second in the league with 14 triples; he tied Ferguson Jenkins for most sacrifice hits (10); and he led the club with 12 stolen bases. . . . In 1969, Don also enjoyed a standout year. . . . He led the League in every defensive category and set a major league record by playing in 54 consecutive games without an error (the old record of 53 straight was set by Chico Carrasquel in 1951). . . . Also in '69, he led the club with 109 runs scored; he reached base in every one of the club's first 41 games; and he drove in a career high of 53 runs. . . . In 1968, Kessinger was elected to the National League All-Star team for the first time; he led the league in 4 defensive categories; and led the club in most stolen bases and sacrifice hits. . . . Also in '68 he collected the most hits in one game by a Cub for the year, getting 5 hits vs. Cincinnati Aug. 11. . . . In 1967, Kessinger finished 4th in the league in defense and reeled off 29 consecutive errorless games. . . . Signed by the Cubs in 1964, Don broke into the major leagues to stay in 1965. . . . A standout baseball and basketball player at the University of Mississippi, he was an all-conference player in both sports.

JOSEPH (J. C.) MARTIN 12

CATCHER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born Dec. 13, 1936. Height 6:02. Weight 195. Married, 3 children. Home: Hillside, Illinois.

J. C. Martin, acquired by the Cubs just before the start of the 1970 season, was a handy man to have around last season. . . . Obtained March 29th, 1970, for Randy Bobb, from the New York Mets, he appeared in 40 games, 36 behind the plate, filling in for the injured Randy Hundley. . . . J. C. was the central figure in the most controversial play of the 1969 World Series: the Mets won the 4th game when Baltimore pitcher Pete Richert's throw to first base, after fielding Martin's pinch bunt, struck J. C. in the wrist, allowing him to reach first base safely and enabling the winning run to score. . . . The Orioles claimed he was out of the base path but to no avail. . . . Martin played first base as well as catching for the Mets, but was used mainly as a pinch hitter. . . . Reared in Axton, Va., a few miles from Randy Hundley's home town of Martinsville, Va., Martin spent most of his major league career with the White Sox, going to the Mets in November of '67 in the deal which sent Ken Boyer to the White Sox. . . . Signed as a first baseman in 1956 by the Sox, he was converted to a catcher by Al Lopez.

ROBERT (BOB) MILLER 45

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Feb. 18, 1939. Height 6:01. Weight 195. Married, 2 children. Home: Seaside, Oregon.

Bob Miller's contract was purchased by the Cubs Sept. 1 of last season from the Chicago White Sox in an effort to shore up the bull pen. . . . The Cubs were Miller's third team of 1970; he began the season with Cleveland, and was traded June 15 to the Sox, along with Barry Moore, for Buddy Bradford and Tommie Sisk. . . . He had been acquired by the Indians from Minnesota in December, 1969, in a 6-player deal. . . . He signed his first pro contract with his home town St. Louis Cardinals in 1957 and was assigned to the major league club right away. . . . After 5 years in the Cardinal organization, he was selected by the New York Mets in the expansion draft of October, 1961. . . . After the '62 season, he was traded to the Dodgers where he was in the bullpen for 5 seasons. . . . While at L.A., he led the League in appearances (74) in 1964. . . . In November of '67, he went to Minnesota with Ron Perranoski and John Roseboro for Jim Grant and Zoilo Versalles. . . . Attended St. Louis University.

JOSE ORTIZ 20

OUTFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born June 25, 1947. Height 5:09. Weight 165. Married. Home: Ponce, Puerto Rico.

Jose Ortiz, acquired by the Cubs this past winter, is considered an outstanding rookie prospect. . . . He was obtained from the Chicago White Sox, along with Ossie Blanco (assigned immediately to Tacoma), Nov. 30, 1970, in exchange for Roe Skidmore, Dave Lemonds, and Pat Jacquez. . . . A little speedster, he has been timed in 3.9 seconds from home plate to first base. . . . Ortiz possesses excellent bat control, and although not a power hitter, he scatters a lot of singles for high average. . . . He is what pitchers term a "tough out;" he struck out only 43 times in 611 at-bats last year at Tucson. . . . Ortiz hit .308 in 143 games for Tucson, and then was called up to Chicago where he hit .333 for the Sox in 15 games. . . . Jose made his major league debut in 1969, and in 16 games that season combined with 15 last year, his lifetime major league average is .314 for 31 games. . . . Jose signed his first pro contract in 1966, and a year later, 1967, he led the Midwest League in hits (129) and stolen bases (64) and was 5th in the league batting race (.282) to win a berth on the league all-star team. . . . Hit .312 in 81 games at Evansville in '68. . . . Plays winter ball in Puerto Rico each year.

MILTON (MILT) PAPPAS 32

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born May 11, 1939. Height 6:03. Weight 214. Married, 2 children. Home: Wheaton, Illinois.

Milt Pappas, who gives the Cubs 4 reliable starting pitchers for the first time in recent memory, enjoyed a rebirth of his career after being purchased from the Atlanta Braves last June 25th. . . . Milt was 10-8 after joining the Cubs, and led the Cub pitching staff with a 2.67 ERA. . . . He was 2-2 with a 6.00 ERA in 11 games at Atlanta, but his overall ERA of 3.35 was good enough for 10th place in the National League. . . . In addition, Milt handed Cincinnati a shut-out July 23 at Wrigley Field, the only time they were held scoreless all season. . . . Milt blanked 'em 3-0 on 4 hits. . . . Also tough with a bat, Milt led Cub pitchers with a .240 batting average, including 2 home runs. . . . Pappas spent one full season and 2 partial ones with Atlanta; he was acquired by the Braves June 12, 1968, along with Ted Davidson and Bob Johnson, from Cincinnati in return for Tony Cloninger, Clay Carroll, and Woody Woodward. . . . Originally signed to a pro contract by the Baltimore organization in 1957, he enjoyed 8 stellar seasons with the Orioles, reaching his high point in 1964 with a 16-7 record. . . . In December of 1965, he was traded to Cincinnati in the famous deal that sent Frank Robinson to Baltimore. . . . He has been a member of the American League All-Star team 3 times (twice in 1962, and in 1965).

JOSEPH (JOE) PEPITONE 8

For Joe Pepitone and Chicago baseball fans it was almost an overnight love affair. . . . The former New York Yankee star, who arrived in Chicago with a reputation for occasional uninspired play, was little short of sensational with the Cubs after being obtained on waivers from the Houston Astros July 29. . . . He hit safely 57 times in 56 games, smashed 12 home runs and drove in 44 runs, all in the last 2 months of the season. . . . In addition, Joe was third on the club in overall offense by the Cubs' rating system. . . . His 1970 RBI total of 79 was his best effort since 1966. . . . A veteran of 2 World Series and 3 American League All-Star teams, he owns a career record of 192 homers, just 8 short of membership in the exclusive 200 career home run club to which 4 members of the current Cubs team already belong. . . . Experienced at center field and first base, he made 13 appearances at first for the Cubs in 1970. . . . After 7½ seasons with the Yankees, with whom he signed his first pro contract in 1958, Joe was traded to Houston by the Yanks for Curt Blefary in December of 1969. . . . Hit 27 homers for the Yankees in 1969, and led them with 12 game-winning RBI. . . . In addition, he was the top fielding first baseman in the American League in '69, his third such honor. . . . Tied a major league record May 23, 1962, when he hit 2 home runs in one inning. . . . Three times he has driven in 80 or more runs in a season, including a personal high of 100 in 1964.

JUAN PIZARRO 46

Juan Pizarro was used sparingly by the Cubs after his purchase July 9 of last season from Hawaii. . . . He compiled a 9-0 record for the Islanders, but pitched only 16 innings for the Cubs the remainder of the season. . . . Pizarro, whose lifetime record (118-92) is well above .500, has seen action with 7 different major league clubs. . . . Juan enjoyed his best years with the Chicago White Sox (1961-66) when he put together a 75-47 record and was elected to the American League All-Star team twice (1963-64). . . . Signed his first pro contract in 1956 with the Milwaukee Braves organization, and led the Sally League with a 23-6 record and a 1.77 ERA. . . . He broke into the majors the following season with the Braves, and was up and down with them 4 seasons. . . . Pizarro went to the White Sox Dec. 15, 1960, in a 3-way deal among the Braves, Reds, and White Sox. . . . The Southsiders sold him to Pittsburgh in November of 1966. . . . In June of 1968, the Pirates sold him to Boston. . . . During the 1969 season, he saw duty with the Red Sox, Cleveland, and Oakland. . . . Pizarro is a consistent winner in the Puerto Rican Winter League each year—this past winter he led the league most of the season in pitching.

PAUL POPOVICH 22

INFIELDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born Aug. 18, 1940. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Single. Home: Morgantown, West Virginia.

Paul Popovich, in his 6th season in the major leagues, is the Cubs' #1 relief man for the infield. . . . A versatile glove man, he fields second base, shortstop, and third base with equal ease; he made only one error in 22 games at second base last year, and only one mistake in 16 games at third. . . . He more than doubled his career home run total in 1970, hitting 4 to jump his lifetime total from 3 to 7. . . . A product of the Cubs' farm system, he was traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers in November, 1967, for Lou Johnson, but was reacquired by the Cubs June 11, 1969, from Montreal in exchange for Adolfo Phillips. . . . He was inserted in the line-up for Glenn Beckert, injured at the time, and went right to work, hitting .357 in his first 6 games, including a home run and 6 RBI. . . . Well established as a defensive player, he has been gaining respect with the bat as well. . . . Playing regularly for the Dodgers in 1968, he hit .338 the final month of the season. . . . Converted to a switch-hitter with the Cubs Arizona Instructional League team during the winter of 1966-67, he hit .340 in that league. . . . Attended West Virginia University where he was named to the all-conference baseball team and lettered in basketball as well.

PHILIP (PHIL) REGAN 27

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born April 6, 1937. Height 6:03. Weight 200. Married, 3 children. Home: Byron Center, Michigan.

Phil Regan experienced an off season in 1970 but still led the Cub pitching staff with 12 saves. . . . Tho he also led the Cub staff with 54 appearances in '70, it still counted as the fewest appearances for him in one season since 1965 when he was still a starting pitcher with Detroit. . . . Regan led all Cub pitchers in defense last year, committing no errors in 76 innings pitched. . . . In 1969, Phil collected 17 saves and led Cub pitchers in games finished (49) and appearances (71). . . . In 1968, he walked away with "Fireman of the Year" honors as he compiled 10 victories, 21 saves, and a 2.19 ERA with the Cubs in 68 games. . . . He came to the Cubs from the Dodgers April 23, 1968, along with Jim Hickman, in exchange for Ted Savage and Jim Ellis. . . . That same season he had the distinction of winning both games of doubleheaders twice: April 21 while with the Dodgers and July 7 with the Cubs. . . . Regan reached stardom after being obtained by Los Angeles in 1966 from Detroit. . . . Converted to a relief pitcher by the Dodgers, he racked-up an incredible 14-1 record and a 1.62 ERA in 1966 to help them to the National League pennant and win his first "Fireman of the Year" award and "Comeback Player of the Year" honors for himself. . . . He went without a loss from May 13, 1966, to May 15, 1967, more than a full year, taking part in 42 victories, receiving credit for 15 of them, and recording 7 saves during that period. . . . Signed his first pro contract with Detroit in 1956. . . . Broke into the majors in '60 with the Tigers, pitching 4 seasons for them.

ROBERTO RODRIGUEZ 43

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Nov. 29, 1943. Height 6:03. Weight 185. Married, one son. Home: Caracas, Venezuela.

Roberto Rodriguez, tho somewhat uneven in his performance with the Cubs in 1970, demonstrated flashes of brilliance as a relief pitcher. . . . He recorded his first save as a Cub July 6 against Montreal when he was called into the game with the bases loaded and no one out in the 9th inning, with the Cubs ahead 3-2; he struck out the first 2 Expos' batters and got the third to hit into an infield out to retire the side flawlessly. . . . 1970 was Roberto's first full season in the major leagues; he began the year with Oakland. . . . After 6 appearances for the Athletics, he was traded conditionally to San Diego, where he made 10 more appearances before being purchased by the Tacoma Cubs June 24. . . . The following day the Chicago Cubs bought his contract from Tacoma. . . . In 1967, he tied for the Pacific Coast League leadership in won-loss percentage (.750), and was named to the National Association West All-Star Team. . . . Signed his first pro contract in 1964 with the Athletics' organization as a catcher but converted to pitching his first spring training. . . . Played with Aragua of the Venezuelan League this past winter, leading the league in ERA a good portion of the season.

KENNETH (KEN) RUDOLPH 15

CATCHER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Dec. 29, 1946. Height 6:01. Weight 180. Married. Home: Los Angeles, California.

Ken Rudolph, for the second year in a row, spent the season working in the shadow of more experienced catchers. . . . Appearing in only 20 games for the Cubs in 1970, he has now appeared in a total of 47 major league games in the past 2 seasons with the big club. . . . He made his first trip to the majors in 1968, spending 14 days with the big club in July. . . . However, a sign of things to come: he was optioned to Tacoma without making a single appearance. . . . Ken spent short periods with San Antonio in both '69 and '70; in 6 games there in '69 he hit .348 and in 36 games with the Missions last season (July 28-Sept. 1) he hit .250. . . . Rudolph was selected by the Cubs in the free agent draft of June, 1965, and played in only 19 games with the Cubs' "rookie" classification team at Treasure Valley before winning promotion to Quincy in his first pro year. . . . Caught at "A" level in 1966 and '67, then in 1968, played at "AA," "AAA," and major league levels. . . . Born in Rockford, Ill., Ken was reared in California, where he graduated from Cathedral High (Los Angeles) in 1964 after starring in baseball.

RONALD (RON) SANTO 10

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Feb. 25, 1940. Height 6:00. Weight 190. Married, 3 children. Home: Glenview, Illinois.

Ron Santo appeared in his fewest number of games (154) in 10 years this past season, but still drove in more than 100 runs (114) for the second year in a row, and for the 4th time in his 11-year major league career. . . . In addition, Ron led the Cubs with most game-winning RBI (17), most bases-on-balls (108) and most sacrifice flies (6). . . . He was third on the club, behind Billy Williams and Jim Hickman, in RBI and home runs, and he hit 2 grandslam homers in 1970 to boost his career total to 5. . . . Ron set a season high mark by driving in 8 runs in one game (July 6 vs. Montreal). . . . In September when the club was struggling, Ron supplied the strongest bat leading the club with a .375 average the last 22 games of the year. . . . On defense, Santo continued to be the outstanding third baseman in the league: he was second in putouts (143), assists (320), total chances (490) and double plays (36). . . . In 1969, Santo drove in a career high of 123 runs, second only to Willie McCovey (126) in the league, and made his 6th appearance on the National League All-Star team. . . . In addition, he tied the major league record for most year leading the league in games at third (7) and tied the National League records for most years leading the league in put-outs (7) . . . In 1968, Ron won the "Gold Glove" award for the 5th straight year for his outstanding defensive work at his position, and set or tied 4 major or National League records along the way. . . .At the same time, he became the 70th major league in history to hit 200 home runs in a career. . . . In 1965, Ron hit 33 homers to set a club all-time record for home runs by a third baseman. . . . Destined to go into the books as one of the greatest players in the club's history, he is in the top ten in 10 of 12 all-time offensive categories, moving into the top ten this past year in career runs scored (899) and career doubles (277). . . . His 279 career home runs rank him third on the Cub all-time list behind Ernie Banks and Billy Williams. . . . Ron, who spent his boyhood working in the ball park of Seattle's Pacific Coast League team, was signed by the Cubs in 1959 and moved into the regular Cub line-up halfway thru the next season.

RONALD (RON) TOMPKINS 38

PITCHER. Throws Right. Bats Right. Born Nov. 27, 1944. Height 6:05. Weight 220. Married, 2 sons. Home: Chula Vista, California.

Ron Tompkins, one of the few new faces on the 1971 Cubs team, was acquired Nov. 30, 1970, in the professional draft from Portland, the only player selected from that draft by the Cubs. . . . Although he had spent a portion of only one season in the major leagues thru 9 years in pro ball, Tompkins gave himself a new lease on life with a different delivery: he developed a submarine-style delivery in 1970 (similar to that of Ted Abernathy) and in 29 innings at Portland, posted a 5-3 record and a 2.79 ERA. . . . Primarily a starting pitcher most of his career, he converted to relief pitching in 1969. . . . Signed originally by the Athletics' organization in 1962, he made his major league debut with them late in 1965, compiling a 3.60 ERA in 10 innings. . . . Since '65, he had played in the Atlanta Braves, the Kansas City Royals and the Milwaukee Brewers organizations, and was property of the Braves when acquired by the Cubs. . . . In '66 and '63 he led the leagues in which he was pitching in shut-outs; in '68 he was second in his league in shut-outs. . . . Tompkins, who has attended Southwestern University (Los Angeles), pitched for Zulia in the Venezuelan League this past winter.

HECTOR TORRES 21

INFIELDER. Bats Right. Throws Right. Born Sept. 16, 1945. Height 6:00. Weight 175. Married, twin daughters. Home: Houston, Texas.

Hector Torres, acquired Oct. 13, 1970, from the Houston Astros in exchange for minor league infielder Roger Metzger, is considered to be in a class with Don Kessinger and Paul Popovich defensively. . . . Torres opened the 1970 season at Oklahoma City, but after hitting .305 there in 38 games was promoted to the major league club where he hit .246, playing mostly in a reserve role. . . . He was acquired by Houston after the 1967 season from the California Angels' organization, and made his major league debut in 1968 as the Astros' regular shortstop. . . . A batting slump in '69 caused him to divide the season between Oklahoma City and the major league club. . . . Signed to his first pro contract by the San Francisco Giants in 1962, he was obtained by the Angels in 1966. . . . Son of a player and manager in Mexican pro ball, he pitched a 1-hitter and a 2-hitter to lead his home town of Monterrey, Mexico, to the Little League world championship at the age of 12. . . . Attended Instituto Laurens (Monterrey). . . . . Plays pro ball in Mexico during the winter.

BILLY WILLIAMS 26

OUTFIELDER. Bats Left. Throws Right. Born June 15, 1938. Height 6:01. Weight 175. Married, 4 daughters. Home: Chicago, Illinois.

In 1970, Billy Williams enjoyed his greatest season in a succession of great seasons for the Chicago Cubs. . . . He came within a whisker of being the Most Valuable Player in the National League (second in the voting behind only John Bench of Cincinnati). . . . Billy led the league in runs scored (137), total bases (373,) tied for the most hits (205), and was second in the league in RBI (129) and home runs (42). . . . His .322 batting average led the club and was 4th in the league, and his 34 doubles led the team. . . . In addition, he was second on the club in overall offense by the Cubs' rating system, second in hitting with men on second and third base (.318) and second in reach average (.391). . . . After the season, he was named "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers, and was elected to "The Sporting News" and Associated Press all-star teams. . . . His 42 homers set a new team record for left fielders, eclipsing the old record of 37 in a season by Hank Sauer, and pushed his career total to 291, second only to Ernie Banks on the all-time Cub list. . . . Defensively, he was second in the league, committing only 3 errors in 160 games in the outfield. . . . Like Ernie Banks and Ron Santo, Billy will probably go down as one of the best players in the history of the team; he is in the top ten in 10 of 12 Cub all-time offensive departments. . . . And on Sept. 3, 1970, Billy put his name in the record book when he completed 1,117 consecutive appearances, missing a Cubs game for the first time since Sept. 22, 1963. . . . He owns the National League record for consecutive games and is third on the major league all-time list behind "Deacon" Scott (1,307) and Lou Gehrig (2,130). . . .The biggest day of Billy's career came June 29, 1969, when he broke Stan Musial's old National League record of 895 straight games on "Billy Williams Day" at Wrigley Field, before 41,000 (largest crowd of that season). . . . Also in '69, he tied 2 major league records: most doubles in a game (4, April 9) and getting all of the club's hits in a game (4, Sept.5). . . . July 17, 1966, Billy accomplished a rare feat, becoming only the 6th Cub in history to hit for the cycle. . . . He was "Rookie-of-the-Year" in the National League in 1961. . . . Signed with the Cubs organization in 1956, and became a regular on the big club in '61.

MATHEW (MATT) ALEXANDER 50

INFIELDER. Bats Switch. Throws Right. Born Jan. 30, 1947. Height 5:10. Weight 162. Married, one child. Home: Shreveport, Louisiana.

Matt Alexander is being carried on the Cubs major league roster, but Cub fans will not get their first look at him for at least another year—he is in his second year of a 2-year hitch with the U.S. Navy Reserve. . . . Signed in 1968, Alexander has played 136 games in 2 seasons in the Cubs organization, and has already demonstrated potential with the bat. . . . He began the 1969 season with the Quincy Cubs, and despite the fact that he was there only part of a season, he led the club with 23 stolen bases. . . . He also batted .274 and drove in 32 runs at Quincy along with 8 home runs. . . . Promoted to San Antonio July 27, 1969, he hit .303 there in 30 games. . . . A 1965 graduate of Bethune High School (Shreveport), he lettered in baseball and basketball there. . . . Tho currently in the service, he normally attends Grambling College in the off-season.

ITEMS OF INTEREST ABOUT THE 1971 CUBS TEAM

Thirty-seven players are listed on the Chicago Cubs 1971 spring roster, 36 of which were to report to camp (infielder Matt Alexander is on active military duty and will miss the entire 1971 season). . . . Four non-roster players have been invited to camp for a total of 40 players in 1971.

* * * *

Fourteen players on the 1971 major league spring roster were not on the Cubs 1970 spring roster. They include: pitchers Bob Miller, Milt Pappas, Juan Pizarro, Roberto Rodriguez, and Ron Tompkins; catchers Danny Breeden and J. C. Martin; infielders Hal Breeden, Garry Jestadt, and Hector Torres; and outfielders Brock Davis, Adrian Garrett, Jose Ortiz, and Joe Pepitone.

* * * *

Of the 14 new faces, 5 were acquired since the end of the 1970 season from other organizations: Hector Torres from the Houston Astros; Jose Ortiz from the White Sox; Danny Breeden from the Cincinnati system; his brother, Hal, from the Atlanta organization; and Ron Tompkins was chosen in the professional draft in November. . . . 4 were acquired during the 1970 season and one just days before the season opened. J. C. Martin was acquired from the New York Mets March 29. After the season opened, the Cubs obtained Bob Miller from the White Sox, Milt Pappas from Atlanta, Joe Pepitone from Houston, and Juan Pizarro from Hawaii. . . . 4 came to the Cubs from associated clubs: Roberto Rodriguez, Garry Jestadt, Brock Davis, and Adrian Garrett were all promoted from the Tacoma Cubs of the Pacific Coast League.

Only one player on the 1971 roster was obtained via the professional draft this past winter: pitcher Ron Tompkins was drafted from Portland of the Pacific Coast League. . . . Tho Portland is associated with the Milwaukee Brewers, Ron's contract was with the Atlanta Braves organization.

* * * *

Only 15 players on the 1971 spring roster spent the entire 1970 season with the Cubs: pitchers Jim Colborn, Bill Hands, Ken Holtzman, Fergie Jenkins, and Phil Regan; catchers Randy Hundley and J. C. Martin; infielders Ernie Banks, Glenn Beckert, Don Kessinger, Paul Popovich and Ron Santo; and outfielders Johnny Callison, Jim Hickman and Billy Williams.

* * * *

Eight players on the Cubs spring roster played winter ball in Latin America. Jim Colborn, Joe Decker, Larry Gura, and Juan Pizarro played in Puerto Rico; Roberto Rodriguez and Ron Tompkins in Venezuela; and Hector Torres and Hal Breeden in Mexico. . . . Pizarro and Rodriguez led their respective leagues in ERA much of the winter.

* * * *

Four players on the spring roster took part in the Arizona Instructional League this past winter: Jim Dunegan, Ron Jones, Terry Hughes, and Garry Jestadt.

* * * *

1970 SEASON HIGHLIGHTS

The Chicago Cubs registered their second straight second place finish in the Eastern Division of the National League in 1970, compiling an 84-78 record. Unlike the 1969 season, the Cubs were in the thick of the division race until the very end. Sept. 4 they were in a tie for first place, and as late as Sept. 19 they were only 1½ games out of first. The Cubs were not finally eliminated until Sept. 27, with only 4 games left in the season.

* * * *

It was the year of the long ball for the Cubs. They hit 179 home runs, second in the National League only to Cincinnati (191) and only 3 short of the all-time club record of 182 hit in 1958. . . . The Cubs were also second in the league in RBI (761) and runs scored (806).

* * * *

The Cubs pitching staff compiled a 3.76 ERA in 1970, fourth in the National League. . . . They led the league with 59 complete games (50 resulting in victories), in fewest total walks (475), and were second in fewest hit batsmen (25) fewest wild pitches (40), fewest balks (4).

* * * *

The Cubs were the only team in the National League with 3 players (Billy Williams, Jim Hickman, Ron Santo) who hit 25 or more home runs apiece and drove in 100 or more runs apiece.

* * * *

The Cubs were the only team in the National League with 3 pitchers who won 15 or more games: Fergie Jenkins (22), Bill Hands (18) and Ken Holtzman (17). . . . Only one other club in the league (Cincinnati) had as many as 2 15-game winners.

* * * *

Two Cubs finished in the top ten in the National League batting race: Billy Williams was fourth with a .322 average, and Jim Hickman was 10th with a .315 average. . . . In addition, Williams led the league in runs scored (137) and tied for most hits (205) with Pete Rose of Cincinnati. He was second in the league in homers (42) and in RBI (129).

* * * *

Three Cub pitchers were among the top 15 in the National League in ERA: Milt Pappas was 10th (3.35—a combined Atlanta-Cubs figure), Ken Holtzman was 11th (3.38) and Fergie Jenkins was 12th (3.39).

* * * *

The Cubs tied for the longest winning streak in the National League by winning 11 straight from April 14 to 27. It represented the longest streak by a Cub team since the 1945 National League champion Cubs won 11 in a row.

* * * *

The greatest single event of the season occurred May 12 at Wrigley Field when Ernie Banks belted a pitch into the left field bleachers against Atlanta for the 500th home run of his career.

* * * *

Sept. 3, 1970, was also a significant date: Billy Williams did not appear in a game for the first time since Sept. 22, 1963, thus ending his streak of consecutive appearances at 1,117, a National League record. . . . He is third on the all-time list in that department behind only "Deacon" Scott (1,307) and Lou Gehrig (2,130).

* * * *

Fergie Jenkins won more than 20 games (22) for the 4th year in a row to become the first Cub pitcher to accomplish such a feat since Mordecai "Three-Fingered" Brown won 20 or more 6 seasons in a row, 1906-11.

* * * *

Don Kessinger and Glenn Beckert were elected to the 1970 National League All-Star team, and Jim Hickman was named to the team by Manager Gil Hodges. . . . Hickman got the winning hit, a single in the 12th inning that drove-in Pete Rose for the 5-4 victory.

* * * *

Cub players received awards galore in 1970: Billy Williams was named "Chicago Player of the Year" by the Chicago Baseball Writers. . . . Jim Hickman was given the "Headline of the Year" award by the Chicago Baseball Writers, named "Tennessee Pro Athlete of the Year" by his home state, and named "Comeback Player of the Year" by the Sporting News. . . . Don Kessinger was named to the "Gold Glove" award as the best defensive player at his position in the league. . . . Ernie Banks was named "Chicagoan of the Year in Sports" by the Chicago Jaycees.

* * * *

The Cubs home attendance of 1,642,451 represented the second best season attendance in the history of the club, only 32,542 short of the 1969 all-time record attendance figure of 1,674,993. . . . Actually, Cub home attendance per game was greater in 1970 than in 1969. In '69 the Cubs averaged 22,039 in 76 home dates, while in '70 they averaged 22,812 in 72 home dates.

GENERAL BASEBALL INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut active roster to a maximum of 25 players on opening day. . . . From Sept. 1 to opening day, clubs may carry up to 40 players.

Trades within the National League: From midnight the last day of the season to midnight June 15, player contracts may be traded or sold without getting waivers. . . . From June 15 to the end of the season, League waivers are necessary.

Waivers: Player contracts may be made available for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the League standings at the time waivers expire, if more than 30 days after opening day. Otherwise, in reverse order of the standing at the close of the previous season.

Inter-League Trades: From midnight Nov. 20 to midnight Dec. 15, player contracts may be traded or sold between National League and A.L. clubs without waivers. . . . From Dec. 15 to midnight June 15, waivers are necessary in the assignor's league. . . . From June 15 to midnight the last day of the season, waivers from all major league clubs are necessary. . . . From the end of the season to Nov. 20, assignor's league waivers are necessary.

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of 9 innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none of its half of the 9th or only part of it; or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after 5 completed innings. A regulation game may be less than 5 innings if the home team is ahead after the first of the 5th, or takes the lead or ties the score while at bat in the 5th.

Tie Game: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Individual player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the League standings and may be re-scheduled at a later date.

Suspended Game: A suspended game is one that has become a regulation game and is halted by a local curfew or a time limit, or a game halted by light failure either before or after it becomes a regulation game. Effective in 1969: A game tied after nine innings which is stopped by the same circumstances which make a game suspended if tied before 9 innings, will also be a suspended game. A suspended game is to be resumed from the exact point of suspension, if possible as a preliminary to the next game on the grounds where suspended. A game called because of darkness, rain or other weather conditions is not a suspended game. Exception: If, after the second game of a double-header in Chicago becomes a legal game, the game is called because of darkness, it shall be a suspended game.

Earned Run Average: A pitcher's ERA is figured by multiplying his earned runs by 9 and dividing by innings pitched.

CUBS PLAY HALL-OF-FAME GAME IN 1971

The Chicago Cubs and the Cleveland Indians meet in the annual Hall-of-Fame Game at Cooperstown, New York, at 1:00 p.m. (C.D.T.), Monday, August 9, 1971. Major league clubs take part in the annual game on a rotating basis. This will be the Cubs 4th appearance in the game; they played the Boston Red Sox in the very first Hall-of-Fame game in 1940. The last time the Cubs appeared in the game was 1960. Fans interested in obtaining ticket information for the game can do so by writing:

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

Past meets present at Wrigley Field—home of the Chicago Cubs. The Cubs' pleasant, northside residence embodies a half a century of major league tradition, but in addition to that tradition which is alive in every nook and cranny of the park, continued improvement is a constant watch-word.

Pioneers in providing a pleasant park-like atmosphere for family enjoyment, the Cubs conduct a continuous program of modernization, improvement and renovation of the structure and field. In an age which is seeing a trend toward multi-purpose stadia, Wrigley Field is one of the few remaining parks designed specifically for baseball.

Located on 7.7 acres in the heart of Chicago's North Side (street boundaries are Clark, Addison, Sheffield, and Waveland), Wrigley Field features an attractively landscaped field for day baseball enjoyment for the entire family.

Improvements Continue In 1971

In the past few years, more than $4,000,000 has been invested in improvements at Wrigley Field. This figure is over and above expenditures for each year's regular maintenance.

During the past winter, the Cubs completed improvements valued at more than $550,000. More than 3,260 new seats were installed, replacing old ones, in both the upper and lower decks. In addition, another portion of the lower deck was rebuilt. The section, on the left field side, involved the installation of modern, pre-cast concrete construction.

A 4-year reconstruction project of the upper deck was completed over the past winter. The project, which began in the winter of 1967-68 has seen the complete revamping of the upper deck from one end to the other.

Another project completed in the winter of 1970-71 was the enlarging and modernizing of first aid facilities.

Early History of the Park

The Cubs moved to the North Side location from the old West Side park in 1916. The site had been the playing field of the Chicago Whales baseball team in the short-lived Federal League, which operated in 1914-15. The original seating capacity was 14,000.

The first major improvements in 1922-23 involved moving back and enlarging the grandstand, increasing capacity to 20,000. Next the park was double-decked in 1926 and '27. In 1937 the improved bleachers were built. Then in 1938 wide chairs were installed in the boxes and grandstand. This added to the comfort of the fans, reducing the park's total seating capacity by several thousand.

To enhance the park-like atmosphere, ivy vines were grown on the outfield walls, instead of the clutter of advertising signs. The big scoreboard and clock are unmarred by advertising.

How the Park Got Its Name

For some years the park was known as Cubs Park. Then in 1926 it was officially named Wrigley Field in honor of the late William Wrigley Jr.

In 1916, Mr. Wrigley was one of a group of civic-minded Chicagoans who bought the Cubs from out-of-town interests that had been absentee owners of the club for nearly 10 years. In 1921 he bought out some of the others to acquire an interest of over 50%. The Cubs won two pennants under his leadership, and four more under Phil Wrigley, the present-day principal owner of the Club.

How to Get Tickets—Information on Prices

Reserved seat tickets for all games are available by mail. Just send your order to Ticket Manager, Wrigley Field, Chicago, Ill. 60613. Available on the morning of every home game are 21,500 grandstand and bleacher seats, for which no reservations are needed.

Reserved tickets can be purchased in advance at the Wrigley Field Ticket Office (Addison and Sheffield) and at Bond's downtown store (234 S. State St., near Jackson).

Reserved seats are $3.50 for adults and children. Reserved grandstand seats, available for the first time in 1971, are $2.50 for adults and children. Grandstand tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.00 for children under 14. Admission to the bleachers is $1.00 for everyone.

How to Get to the Park

Located at Clark and Addison Sts., 3600 North, 1000 West. Clark St. buses (No. 22) and Addison buses (No. 152) take you to main gates. CTA Rapid Transit trains ("L" and subway) take you to ¼ block from the ball park (Addison St. station). All northbound and southbound trains on the North-South Rapid Transit route stop at Addison on days of all Cubs home games throughout the season.

The Flags of Wrigley Field

At all Cubs home games Old Glory flies from the centerfield masthead, highest point in the park. The flags of the 12 National League cities, 8 States, and Quebec fly at the Clark St. entrance.

Before and during each game, 12 pennants, one for each National League Club, fly from the yardarms in the order of the standings of each division on the morning of the game—the first place team in the East Division at top left, and the West Division leader at top right.

The Chicago Cubs flag—red and white on a blue background—display 16 red stars representing the Club's 16 National League Championships. The two blue stars represent the Club's two World Championships.

CUBS TRAINING CENTER AT SCOTTSDALE

Ideal weather is of prime concern when a major league baseball club picks a location for its training operations. Scottsdale, located in Arizona's famous "Valley of the Sun" and just a stone's throw from Phoenix, one of the largest cities in the Southwest, boasts consistently ideal training weather.

Plenty of sunshine and dry, bracing desert air feature Scottsdale's climate. The sun shines 86 per cent of the possible time, the humidity rarely climbs above the 20 per cent mark.

Seven Teams Train in The Southwest

The Cubs, in their fifth year of training at Scottsdale, are joined by 6 major league teams in the Southwest. Four teams now train in the "Valley"; the Cubs at Scottsdale, the San Francisco Giants at Phoenix, the Oakland Athletics at Mesa, and the Milwaukee Brewers at Tempe. Also training in Arizona are the Cleveland Indians at Tucson, and the San Diego Padres at Yuma. The California Angels train at nearby Palm Springs, California.

Top-Quality Playing Facilities

The major league club holds its spring workouts and plays the home games on the spring exhibition schedule in Scottsdale Stadium—a full-sized playing field that's major league in quality. The Stadium has a seating capacity of 4,200.

Adjoining the playing field at the Stadium is a half-diamond, which consists of a complete infield layout to supplement the main field for workouts. Just a short distance from the Stadium are 2 complete playing fields and another half-diamond. Here the players with the Cubs' associated clubs at Tacoma, Washington; San Antonio, Texas; Quincy, Illinois; and Caldwell, Idaho (Treasure Valley), are given an opportunity to get ready for the coming season, under the direction of the Cubs' instructional staff.

Winter Training at Same Base

Each October, a team comprised of youngsters from the Cubs associated clubs mentioned above swings into action in the Arizona Instructional League.

As in spring training, Scottsdale Stadium is home base for the Cubs instructional team, and home games are played there against teams representing other major league clubs.

The city's official hosts for baseball activities are the Charros, a civic-minded group of younger business men associated with the Scottsdale Chamber of Commerce. The Charros, named for the gentried Spanish horsemen who were the go-getters of their day, also sponsor trail rides, rodeos, golf tournaments, and other sports activities.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CUBS HISTORY

As the only club of the 8 original charter members of the National League which has operated every season in the same city since the League's founding in 1876, the Chicago National League Ball Club again set the major league record in 1970 for most consecutive seasons: 95. In 1971 the Cubs enter their 96th consecutive season of play in the senior circuit.

* * * *

The founder of the National League was William A. Hulbert, who was president of the Chicago club. . . . The name of the team in the very early days was the White Stockings. . . . In the 1890s the team was called the Colts. . . . In 1900 the team was officially named the Cubs.

From 1876 thru 1878, the club's home park was near the corner of State and 23rd Sts. . . . The team played several seasons on the lake front near the foot of Randolph St., then moved to Congress and Loomis. . . . In 1893 the club began playing its home games at Lincoln and Polk—the historic "West Side Grounds." . . . The Clubs played their first home game at Wrigley Field's present North Side location on April 20, 1916, and celebrated by beating the Cardinals 7 to 6 in 11 innings.

In 95 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 13,819 games, not counting ties. . . . The club won 7,110 of them.

The Cubs have won 16 National League championships, second only to the Giants, with 18.

* * * *

All-time major league record for games won in a season was set by the Cubs in 1906 with 116 victories that season.

* * * *

Under the leadership of Charlie Grimm, the Cubs won 21 games in a row in 1935 to clinch the pennant that year.

* * * *

Ernie Banks holds the all-time National League record for grand slam home runs in a season, hitting 5 homers with the bases loaded in 1955. . . . His career total, including the one on May 24, 1969, is 12.

Hack Wilson set the all-time National League record for home runs in one season in 1930, with 56. . . . Hack batted in 190 runs that season, an all-time major league record.

CUBS PLAYER DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

One of the most important "behind the scenes" functions of a major league team is to find, sign, and develop young, talented ball players. The need for new players is never ending—if the major league team is not winning, the need is for players who can turn the club into a winning one; if the team is a successful one, the need is for players to carry on when the veterans step down.

The Cubs program for the procurement and development of future major league stars is led by Gene Lawing, director of associated clubs. He and his staff supervise a full time scouting corps numbering nearly 20, and an instructional crew of skilled roving instructors and managers of lower classification clubs who have been selected for their ability to work with youngsters.

The bulk of the training is carried on by the associated clubs, which are listed below, and the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League.

ASSOCIATED CLUBS

TEAM	LEAGUE	CLASS	MANAGER

San Antonio, Texas	Texas	AA	Dixon
Quincy, Illinois	Midwest	A	LeMay
Treasure Valley, Idaho	Pioneer	Rookie	(to be named)

KLEIN — INSTR.

Lou Klein is the top instructional coach in the Cubs organization, specializing in the fine art of hitting. In the winter months he manages the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League, and he has led them to 2 league championships and a third place finish. Lou joined the Cub organization in 1955, leading Ft. Worth to the Texas League championship in 1958, before joining the major league club as a coach in 1961. Lou signed his first pro contract in 1940, and broke into the majors with the St. Louis Cardinals in 1943. He was an active player in the majors with St. Louis, Cleveland, and Philadelphia for 7 seasons. Was player-manager at Dallas before joining the Cubs organization.

MARTIN — INSTR.

Fred Martin, a member of the Cubs' instructional coaching staff since 1961, has been pitching coach for the Cubs team in the Arizona Instructional League the past 3 winters. Fred's pitching staffs have compiled an overall record of 95-47, and in 1970, 3 of his pitchers finished in the top 10 in the league. Martin joined the Cubs organization in 1960, and managed at St. Cloud his first year. Fred began his remarkable pro career in 1935 with the Cardinals organization, and was still active as a relief pitcher at 44 (with Houston in the Texas League in 1959). His playing record spanned 24 years, with 4 years out for Army duty in World War II. Broke into the majors with St. Louis in 1944.

MARSHALL — TACOMA

R. James "Jim" Marshall, after only 3 seasons as a manager in the Chicago Cubs organization, in 1971 is at the helm of the top club in the system: The Tacoma (Wash.) Cubs of the Pacific Coast League . . . A former major league infielder and outfielder, he broke into managing in 1968 when he led the Cubs' team at Lodi (Calif.) . . . The past two years he managed the Cubs' team in the Texas League, leading the San Antonio Missions to a third place finish in 1970 . . . He broke into the majors in 1958 with Baltimore, and was traded to the Cubs in August of the same season . . . Jim played the remainder of that year and all of the '59 season with the Cubs, before being traded to San Francisco . . . Also saw action with the Mets and Pittsburgh before going to Japan where he played 3 years for the Chunichi Dragons (1963-65).

DIXON — SAN ANTONIO

Walt Dixon, appointed this past winter to manage the San Antonio Missions of the Texas League, celebrated his 30th season in professional baseball in 1970 by leading the Quincy (Ill.) Cubs to the Midwest League championship . . . Walt's Q-Cubs finished the regular season with an overall 68-45 record, best in the league, then defeated Quad Cities in the best 2-out-of-3 championship series 2 games to none . . . Dixon managed Quincy since 1965, with the exception of the 1967 season when he was at the helm of the Cubs' team at Lodi (Calif.) . . . He broke into pro ball in 1940 as a pitcher after signing with Boston . . . Walt began his managing career in 1949 and was a player-manager for 10 seasons before devoting full time to managing in 1959 . . . Walt joined the Cub organization in 1957. Served in the Army Air Corps 3 years during World War II.

LE MAY — QUINCY

Dick LeMay, a veteran of 13 years pitching in pro ball, is a rookie once again in 1971: he is the freshman manager of the defending Midwest League champion Quincy (Ill.) Cubs . . . Dick, who spent parts of 3 seasons in the major leagues with San Francisco and the Cubs, pitched the past 2 seasons for the Tacoma Cubs of the Pacific Coast League . . . He was voted "Most Valuable Pitcher" and named to the All-Star team in 1969 for his role in helping the T-Cubs to the P.C.L. championship . . . He was second in the league with 14 saves, fourth with a 2.82 ERA . . . Dick was also elected to the P.C.L. All-Star team in 1968 . . . He broke into pro ball in 1958 with the San Francisco organization, and made his major league debut in 1961 . . . Has attended the University of Michigan, San Jose (Calif.) State College, and Tulsa University.
